

Nickelodeon Star, Cymphonique Miller, Launches Line of Self-Esteem Apparel

Los Angeles, Ca. -- Nick's new girl is launching her own clothing line as the perfect accessory to her Fabulous Girls empowerment charity. Cymphonique Miller, 14, (a.k.a. "Lil Miss Swaggar") is gearing up to be the next teen superstar with her own clothing line, BYOU (Be Your Own You) and a new contract with Nickelodeon for a signature show in 2011.

"This is more than an apparel line, this is a movement because we are empowering young girls. Too many girls are constantly comparing themselves to other people and measuring themselves up to people on television, in magazines, or at school - instead of being themselves!" said Cymphonique. "When you are not being your own you, you're not living up to your greatest potential."

Cymphonique was born into the spotlight of the Miller dynasty, which includes her father hip hop legend and ex-NBA player Master P (who now goes by P. Miller) and her brother Romeo (a.k.a. Lil' Romeo) who had a show on Nickelodeon for three seasons and was also the youngest rapper multi-millionaire entrepreneur ever at the age of 12.

"She is extraordinarily talented for somebody so young," Nickelodeon's Executive VP Talent Paula Kaplan says of Cymphonique. "She has great comedic timing, an amazing voice, and is very self-assured." Additionally, she adds, "We have had long history with this family."

Cymphonique formed a joint venture with a new girls' self-esteem apparel company called Be Your Own You (BYOU). She is a partner and will be the spokesperson to launch the BYOU line, as well as create a BYOU Cymphonique Signature Series and Fabulous Girls (the name of her girl band) Signature Series apparel line.

Cymphonique has a strong commitment to girls' empowerment for girls ages 7-14 and seeks to spread her powerful message to this age group not only through her music and acting, but also through another area of interest for girls: fashion. "We are thrilled to partner with Cymphonique to launch BYOU Apparel, our new line designed to empower girls with the message that it is OK to be YOU," said BYOU CEO Debra Gano, herself a girls' advocate and multi award-winning author of self-esteem books for girls. "Cymphonique's message and passion aligns perfectly with ours, and we expect to do amazing things together to make a difference in the lives of girls worldwide."

Added to the clothing line is a social networking site, for more information, please visit www.BeYourOwnYou.com

CONTACT: Phil Gilliam | 303-667-8886 | Email: philg@beyourownyou.com

About the artist

Cymphonique Miller, 14, is an LA native who made history at 13 by being the youngest female recording artist to have her music video featured simultaneously on BET 106 & Park and Disney. Her fame was initially built via the internet, earning the title Lil Miss Swaggar and comparisons to singers like Beyonce, Rihanna, Keri Hilson and Miley Cyrus.

Cymphonique then inked a deal with Nickelodeon to develop a series just for her and add her to existing projects on the network. Sony Music signed Cymphonique to a record deal making her only the third teen star to be signed under the new Nickelodeon/Sony pact.

Family Ties

Cymphonique's dad is hip hop legend and former NBA player Master P. Her brother, Lil' Romeo, had his own show on Nick for three seasons and was also the youngest rapper multi-millionaire/entrepreneur ever at the age of 12.

Cymphonique is currently featured on the Next Big Thing on the Disney Channel, Radio Disney and RadioDisney.com and released her first album Fabulous Girl in January 2010. She has several music videos to her credit and climbing. Inspired by her passion to help others, she has created a book series to empower young girls called Fabulous Girls and has founded the Fabulous Girls Charity to help bring awareness to kids with cancer.

Holly: Phineas & Ferb

- ▶ The voice of Holly on Disney's Phineas & Ferb
- ▶ Guest star on Nick's Just Jordan
- ▶ Movie roles: Opposite Day and Scarecrow Joe

She's performed at schools and theme parks across the country and has sung the National Anthem in front of 60,000 people at Circle City Classic's Annual College Football game. She has just completed the Six Flags National Tour with Raven Simone.

Her music style and fashion sense are a mix of Pop, R&B and Hip Hop. She is a talented actress and dancer who has trained in ballet, jazz, tap and hip hop. She is also a competitive kick box champion and martial arts specialist. Cymphonique is an honor student as well.

Questions to Ask Cymphonique Miller:

1. What inspired you to promote your own line of clothing?
2. What is the most important advice you could give another girl?
3. Do you have a favorite shirt in your new line?
4. How can fans connect with you online?
5. Who is your greatest inspiration in life?
6. What is the worst mistake girls make about fashion?
7. What does “Be Your Own You” mean to you?
8. Was there ever a time when you felt you were being pressured to be like someone else?
9. You come from a very famous family. Are you the first girl star in the Miller Dynasty?
10. What does girl power mean to you?
11. Who are your favorite recording stars today?
12. Which women in your life have inspired you?
13. How do you stay so happy and motivated with all you do?
14. Do you have any plans to expand the clothing line beyond T-shirts?

ABOUT FABULOUS GIRLS

Hollywood Dream Music recording artists, super girl group from Southern California takes the world by storm with their Pop mixed with R&B, energetic music.

The group consists of:

- ▶ Alexya
- ▶ Cymphonique
- ▶ Kiley and
- ▶ Shelby

Together, they've created a whole new sound and their mission is to encourage and empower girls of all ages and ethnic backgrounds by providing competitive mainstream music with a positive message that young people can enjoy and appreciate. They have performed at numerous schools and theme parks across the country. The girls have appeared nationally, individually and collectively, in numerous commercials, sitcoms, feature films, music videos, and dance showcases.

These girls have taken their shows beyond entertainment by sponsoring and fundraising for underprivileged kids in the community. They're also passionate about helping bring awareness to children with cancer. They have established their own foundation, Fabulous Girls Charity, where they raise money for children with cancer. These young artists are not only great entertainers but are devoted honor students who understand the importance of education.

They've created their own unique meaning for what Fabulous stands for:

F is for FIERCE, it describes the intensity in which we go after our goals in life letting nothing get in our way.

A is for AMBITIOUS, it represents our desire to achieve success in every aspect of our lives.

B is for BEAUTIFUL, both inside and out.

U is for UNIQUE, accepting who we are and where we come from as individuals and respecting the uniqueness of others.

L is for LOVABLE, promising to love one another like family, no matter what problems may arise.

O is for OUTSTANDING, in our efforts and in our mind-set towards school, sports, entertainment and in our communities, we always give 110%.

U is for UNSTOPPABLE, despite the hardships that life may throw at us, we promise not to give up on ourselves or each other.

S is for SWAGGAR, having self-confidence that we can succeed at being ourselves, believing that we are sisters without fear, ready for a challenge and we empower others through our positive attitude.

In the News

Los Angeles, CA (BlackNews.com) - Her name is Cymphonique, and she has the talent to be Nickelodeon's next teen super star. The cable channel has inked a substantial talent development deal with the 14-year-old multi-talented, actor/singer/dancer to develop series for her. With her fan frenzy following, Los Angeles native Cymphonique has been compared to the likes of Beyonce and Miley Cyrus and has quite an impressive resume. She has been ranked as one of the most highly searched teens on the internet today. Her hit single "Lil Miss Swaggar" is blowing up across the country and her unique fashion style is attracting teens globally.

Additionally, Sony Music, which has a partnership with Nickelodeon, has the 13-year-old actress/singer/dancer and younger sister to retired rapper/actor Romeo, signed to a record deal.

Cymphonique's music style and fashion sense are a mix of Pop and R&B. Her incredibly powerful vocals are undeniable. At such a young age, she has performed live for an audience of sixty thousand and has just come off a national tour with Raven Simone. Under the pacts, Cymphonique is preparing to star in a comedy/musical or a straight comedy series.

"She is extraordinarily talented for somebody so young," Nickelodeon's Executive VP Talent Paula Kaplan said. "She has great comedic timing, an amazing voice and is very self-assured." Additionally, "we have had long history with this family," she added.

Although Cymphonique is the daughter to entrepreneur, music mogul and producer Percy Miller, and the sister of actor-rapper and student-athlete Romeo, she is unquestionably making a name for herself.

Inspired by her passion to help others, she has created a book series called "Fabulous Girls" to empower young girls and founded Fabulous Girls Charity to help bring awareness to kids with cancer. Cymphonique has been named the national spokesperson for "It Takes One" Campaign with OneMillionGifts.org. On top of her promising entertainment career, she is an honor student. And for many years, she has been developing her acting/singing/dancing skills through various schools. Cymphonique's hard work and dedication has inked her a deal with family television powerhouse Nickelodeon.

In 2010, Cymphonique will be traveling to India, Asia, Canada and Europe for performances and will begin her "I Heart You" Tour in the U.S February 2010.

Visit the Apparel line online at <http://www.beyourownyou.com/> - web site

Debra Gano – BYOU Chief Executive Officer/President

Debra Gano is a veteran of the fashion industry for over 20 years. Her extensive entrepreneurial background includes:

- ▶ fashion show producer for major retailers nationwide
- ▶ featured columnist in five metropolitan newspapers
- ▶ top marketing instructor on Fashion Merchandising
- ▶ professional speaker
- ▶ director of her own successful modeling school /agency.

Debra is best known, however, for her international work as a model and actress who has been featured in print, film, and television, and on runways around the world. Her career has included work with some of Hollywood's top actors, as well as premier fashion designers worldwide. Consistently throughout her "glamour" career, she mentored women and girls in the areas of poise, self-development and beauty.

A series of life-changing incidences, including a near-fatal car accident, shifted Debra's perspective from an external-focus to knowing that "it's what's inside that counts." Driven with a passion to teach this principle to young girls, she founded Heartlight Girls to dedicate her life to the empowerment of girls and women, including authoring the best-selling and multi award-winning Heartlight Girls series.

Debra is now a sought-after self-esteem expert for television, radio and print media, and speaks nationally empowering girls and women to be their authentic self. Her work has been endorsed by best-selling authors Jack Canfield and Marianne Williamson, girls organizations such as the Girl Scouts and Smart-Girl, Inc., and educators, counselors, parents, and girls worldwide. Her book, Beauty's Secret: A Girl's Discovery of Inner Beauty, is the winner of numerous awards, including the Mom's Choice Award Gold Medal, Moonbeam Children's Award Silver Medal, USA Book News 'National Best Books' First Place Children's Fiction Winner, and the COVR Visionary Award for 'Best Children's Book of the Year.'" Debra is also the President of the CIPA Education and Literacy Foundation, a non-profit organization dedicated to building literacy in children. She is a graduate of the University of Michigan's Ross School of Business, and is, herself, a parent to an 8-year-old girl, her daughter, Ella. Website: www.HeartlightGirls.com

Teen Superstar, Signs Spokesperson Deal with Children’s Educational Network to Help Protect & Educate Children Online

San Diego, Calif., June 8, 2010 – Children’s Educational Network (CEN), an award winning software development company established to protect and enrich the Internet experience of children, is proud to announce the signing of teen sensation Cymphonique as its Official “I’m thrilled to be able to use my celebrity as someone kids and teens listen to in order to increase safety for all of us on the Internet,” said Cymphonique. “I want to make sure that when kids turn on a computer that they are free to learn and enjoy themselves without worrying about stuff they shouldn’t have to.” Her father, legendary hip hop recording artist Percy Miller, agrees, “Cymphonique has always been about helping others and standing up for what she believes in. This is a cause she wanted to be involved with and will be a strong advocate for.”

Cymphonique was featured on the “Next Big Thing” on the Disney Channel, Radio Disney, and RadioDisney.com.

About Children’s Educational Network:

Children’s Educational Network (CEN) is building the premier, online community for children – The Ultimate Kids’ Internet™ or “TUKI”, – specifically designed to provide a safe, fun, and educational Internet experience for kids and is only accessible through CEN’s TUKI Kid Safe Internet Browser, a software program that includes parental controls. Through its multiple cartoon themes that appeal to kids of various ages and genders, TUKI offers fun, educational content that inspires and motivates children in a positive manner. The software accelerates a child’s education and exploration of the Internet in an entertaining manner while protecting them from online predators, pornography, hate, violence, drugs, and other inappropriate content on the Internet. Other companies and organizations can participate in protecting kids on the Internet, expand their brand to the desktop, and build customer loyalty by co-branding or offering their own private labeled TUKI Internet browser built on CEN’s technology.

- ▶ For partnership information, contact Children’s Educational Network or online at www.ChildrensEducationalNetwork.com

Cyber Cymphonique: Join the Safe Place for Girls Online!

- ▶ www.clubcymphonique.com/home.php
- ▶ www.clubtuki.com
- ▶ www.kidsafe.com
- ▶ www.childreducatonalnetwork.com

Teen Sensation Joins Club Tuki Promoting Safe Surfing on the Internet

Children's Educational Network (CEN)

is a software company developing and marketing a fully integrated suite of Internet software products that empowers parents to provide children a safe platform and meaningful tools to accelerate their children's education, entertainment, and exploration of the "Information Superhighway" free from hate, violence, pornography and online predators.

Club TUKI is the newest web site community for kids designed to teach them how to be safe and responsible internet citizens. Kids play educational games, learn about internet safety, earn TUKI Moola for their efforts, and have a chance to win real stuff in an auction!

The Children's Educational Network (CEN) is dedicated to safely opening up the incredible educational power of the internet to children. Founded in 2004 by CEO Greg Writer, CEN is a maker of software that provides a safer Web browsing experience and meaningful tools to accelerate learning. The company is dedicated to educating children on several levels, including Internet safety, traditional education and financial literacy.

A longtime proponent of entrepreneurship and new technologies, Writer started the company when he realized his own children were being inadvertently subjected to inappropriate content online. In 2008, The company's Shrek Browser won a 2008 iParenting Media Award for software and features an Internet filter, parental safety controls, safe email, chore reminders, encouraging words and talking animated characters.

Club TUKI: Club Tuki provides a safe environment for online play where children can have fun while learning the financial skills they will need as adults.

Children's Educational Network has established key relationships with Tutor.com to provide free online tutoring for premium Club Tuki members; Dreamworks Inc. to distribute the Shrek Browser for Kids; and HomeSchool Inc., the Miss America Organization and the National Crime Prevention Council to promote internet safety.

Rap-Up.com

Sept. 10, 2010

Following her brother Romeo, Master P's daughter Cymphonique Miller steps out from her father's shadow in the promo video for her single "Soldier Girl," where she laces up her boots and busts a move with a troupe of girl dancers. The 14-year-old singer, who goes by the nickname "Lil Miss Swaggar," pops and locks while rocking a camouflage mini-jacket over dog tags and a tank top.

Cymphonique has recruited some top-notch producers for her debut album, including Darkchild. "I'm excited for you guys to hear my album because I've been blessed to work with Rodney Jerkins, the same producer that has worked with Michael Jackson and all the greats," she tells Rap-Up.com.

The budding star has picked up a few things from her rap mogul father and brother, who had his own success as a teenager.

"Education comes first in my family," says a head-strong Cymphonique. "The way we always look at it is God, education, family, and as long as we have those three solid, we can do what we love. [Romeo] is always telling me to be myself because that's what people want to see and never let money be the main thing in your life."

